MEMPHIS, TENN.

VICKSBURG complains of a rapidly increasing demand for every kind of building material and for mechanical labor. The same symptoms are manifest in Memphis. It is an epidemic likely to sweep everything before it.

HON. W. A. MILLIKEN, formerly of Somerville, and a member of the Senate, and Mr. John W. Jones are the regular Democratic nominees for the Legislature in Montgomery county. Mr. Milliken is a leading lawyer of Clarksville, and Mr. Jones is a prominent farmer.

THE Tennessee Funding Board at New York has applied for and been permitted to have the new compromise bonds listed at the Stock Exchange to the amount of $16,750,000. This amount, it is stated, will cover all possible contingencies, but no statement is made as to the amount actually funded, or for which certificates have been issued.

THE probability that the old Gayoso House will be restored and reopened by a strong stock company within a few months, is one of the expanding proofs of the prosperity and growth of Memphis. It has been many years since that grand old hotel was closed, and business contracted nearer the geographical center of the city. A reaction has set in, there is a healthy business excitement, and soon will be a vigorous assertion of strength and purpose. There will probably be a union passenger depot in front of the old Gayoso within a few months, making it an accessible and convenient center for the traveling public, without in the least reducing the value of hotel traffic already established. Memphis is gaining ground and going through a marvellous evolution. Great changes are at hand. Those who have faith in the place and the nerve to put themselves on a progressive plane, will be leaders in most that concerns the general welfare for years to come. There is a tide just now to be taken at its flood.

FOREIGN.

PARIS, August 10.—Herrison, a Deputy, has accepted the portfolio of Minister of Public Works.

CONSTANTINOPLE, August 10.—The Sultan's proclamation, declaring Arabi Pasha a rebel, also condemns the conduct of the military leaders as rebellious and criminal, and mentions the friendly relations of the Porte with England.

LARNACA, CYPRUS, August 10.—A great anti-Christian demonstration occurred at the funeral, in Beyrut, of a Moslem found murdered, and who was reported killed by the Christians. The police sympathized with the mob, and many Christians fled to the mountains. A score of others were arrested, but only one killed. Further disturbances are feared.

CALCUTTA, August 10.—Nepal and many other feudatory States of India have volunteered to furnish contingents for the British army in Egypt.

SIMLA, August 10.—The Sixty-third regiment of foot has been ordered to immediately reinforce the Indian contingent for Egypt. Three more batteries have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness for service.

A Deserter Released by Secretary Lincoln.

WASHINGTON, August 10.—W. A. Redfield, a telegraph operator at Columbus barracks (Ohio), has been under arrest upon charge of desertion and awaiting trial by court martial. Secretary Lincoln has received many petitions for his release, and to-day issued an order releasing him from confinement and discharging him from the army. The above order will no doubt create lively satisfaction among gentlemen of the telegraphic fraternity throughout the country, as the facts which led to the arrest of Mr. Redfield were well known and universally condemned by operators everywhere. It is that an alleged "friend" of Redfield's, then an operator, but since dismissed, attempted to blackmail him, and being unsuccessful, represented him to the recruiting officer as a deserter. The officer, however, was not disposed to pay much attention to the charge, but the "friend" threatened the Sergeant with arrest if he did not take Redfield into custody. As the Sergeant thought there might be some foundation for the charge, Redfield having entered with an entire misapprehension of the duties he was to undertake, he was compelled to act, and the arrest and subsequent charges followed.

General Eckert and other prominent officials of the Western Union, have taken great interest in the case, and Lieutenant Governor Richards, of Ohio, has been very active in his efforts to secure Redfield's pardon.

THE PINING DANE.

And Other Choice Chicago News.

CHICAGO, August 10.—J. C. Holm, the Dane who became notorious last week through having buried on the lake front several children whom he was charged with first murdering, having been acquitted of the charge but fled for the irregular burial, became disgusted with Chicago ways and started down the south branch yesterday afternoon in a small skiff with a son, aged fourteen years. Before going a great distance his frail boat upset and both were drowned. His family are destitute.

A Belvidere special says that F. E. Mann, an extensive butter and cheese dealer, failed with liabilities upward of $150,000. No assets.

A Euclaire special says that the harvest has begun in earnest, and reports all favorable, barring some damage from chinch bugs to late spring wheat and oats. Corn is progressing wonderfully, and the situation is the best for years. Loss by the late storms are trifling.

A Watertown special says that the winter wheat crop just harvested is the finest ever raised here, and small damage occurred to that in shock. The barley crop is damaged considerably in quality. Rye escapes injury. Though oats are badly lodged, the best yield ever known is looked for. Spring wheat will turn out well. The benefit to corn will more than counterbalance the injury rains have done to other crops.

Southern Illinois reports say that corn has improved greatly in condition by the rains, and other crops are comparatively little injured.

St. Paul special says: Rain for the past two days. The weather has been irreplaceable for harvesters—cool, breezy and dry.

In Dakota the barley is harvested and mostly secured. Oats will soon be ready, and promise fifty to sixty bushels to the acre. Wheat is filling finely, and some cutting will be done this week.

Minnesota reports continue equally cheering and there is no change from previous estimates. Nothing has damaged the crop yet; the weather has been perfect.

Failure of a Strike.
DENVER, COL., August 10.—The telegraph operators' strike is over, and all the operators are asking to be taken back at the old wages.

Murdered by his Mistress.
NEW YORK, August 10.—Florentine Krentz, a laborer aged nineteen years, was murdered by his mistress, a young girl named Kate Hentz, this morning. The murderess is at large.

Mexican News.
NEW YORK, August 10.—A dispatch to General Palmer from the City of Mexico says the government has approved the Toluca division of the Mexican National railway, extending from the City of Mexico to Toluca, and the road thus far is opened to public traffic.

The Canadian Lumber Question.
OTTAWA, August 10.—Lumbermen in the Ottawa district are excited over the new regulation governing the importation of Canadian lumber into the United States. It appears that lumber which has been imported as one inch boards are really an inch and a quarter thick, and the United States government having discovered this issued an order which caused a temporary suspension of the lumber business.

Indian Troubles.
TUCSON, AR., August 9.—The Star's Mexican special from Guaymas Sonora, says: Last Wednesday the Apaches raided and killed all the inhabitants of the Rancho Carizo, Sahuripa district, Sonora, Mexico, women and children included, and burnt the houses. Saturday morning they murdered an Avaguo near Pelomas, two escaping, being, fortunately, a little behind the one shot. On Monday they ambushed a scouting party of rancheros, consisting of fourteen men, two of which only escaped, eleven being left on the field, while one of them, who was shot through both legs, was dragged a short distance into the bush. This massacre occurred at the Hedienda mine, which is but a short distance from the Yaquon river, and lies between the California and Potrero mines, belonging to the Labaraca Mill and Mining Company. The same day the mail rider was also shot while crossing the Rio Chio.

Wall Street.
NEW YORK, August 10, 11 a.m.—The stock market opened strong and 1 1/2 per cent higher than the closing quotations of yesterday, the latter for Richmond & West Point. In the early dealings, after a fractional decline, Richmond & Danville sold up 1 1/2 per cent and the general list a fraction. There was then a decline of 1 1/2 per cent, in which Burlington & Quincy, Lake Shore and Lackawanna were the most prominent. At 11 o'clock prices recovered 1 1/2 per cent.

Wheat a trifle better and very quiet. Money, 3 per cent; prime mercantile paper, 5 1/2 per cent; bar silver, 113 1/2. Exchange steady, 8 1/2 long, 8 1/2 sight. Governments unchanged. States dull, Tennessee mixed, 1 per cent lower. Railroads fairly active and irregular.

Stocks.—After 11 o'clock the market continued moderately active and strong and prices at noon showed an advance of 1 1/2 per cent, Northwestern common and preferred, Oregon & Transcontinental, St. Paul preferred and Lackawanna being the most prominent in the upward movement.

Government 6s extended, 101 1/2; 5s, 101; 4 1/2s, 114 1/2; 4s, 120; Pacific 6s of '95, 130.

MANHES' MESSIVE.

Which Led to the Addison-Garland Duel—Trivial Cause for the Sacrifice of a Life.

Special to Cincinnati Enquirer.

BURKEVILLE, VA., August 6.—The result of the Addison-Garland duel, in Lunenburg county, in which young Joseph Addison was killed, still continues to occupy the public mind in this State. As will be remembered, this affair grew out of a misunderstanding about Miss Mamie Hatchett, a young lady of Lunenburg county, that lady having accused Garland of having circulated a report that he had flirted with her. Hearing of that report, Miss Hatchett addressed a long letter to Garland, in which she denounced him severely. The letter was sent to young Addison, who endorsed its contents, which resulted in the hostile meeting between himself and Garland, and in which Addison was fatally wounded. The following letters from Miss Hatchett, written in reply to a letter from Garland, denying the charge that he had circulated reports that he had flirted with that lady are made public to-day.

SASAPRIS FORK, N. C., July 13.

"Mr. Garland:
"Yours of the 5th received. In reply I have only to say that as you have denied my charges, I have nothing more to say in excuse, only that I think you have tried to take advantage of me by alluding to notes, hair, etc., which you know there is nothing in, and which I care nothing about. But, knowing your letter would come through other hands, you thought to injure me in their estimation. I had never thought of asking you for them, but since you are so kind, you will please collect every word I ever wrote to you, except the last, long and short cards, etc. Should you find any orders to the store, if not for more than a spoon of thread, or a postal card, if they have my name signed to them, you will please return them immediately. I deny your ever having visited me but once since your visit to Granville. Your other calls were to my friend, not to me. I wish to say just here that by special request you will please not write me another line, as I politely decline any further conversation with you. I think that this affair is settled, and I never intend to spend another thought about it, one way or the other. I was not aware that it was the style at present to refuse introductions before they were requested. As soon as I return home I will try and find all your notes, address your picture, and return them. Address—

"MISS MAMIE L. HATCHETT."
"P.S.—I shall mail this myself at Sasapris Fork, and you will please send the notes as requested directly to me, as I do not care to annoy my friends further in this affair, and think we have had enough witnesses to satisfy all parties."

"MAMIE L. HATCHETT."

Another note, by hand, July 17th, 1882:

"I wrote to you a few days since, and sent the album by mail, which I reckon you will get to-morrow night. I requested you in my note to get together every note I ever wrote you, long or short, on business or otherwise; also the hair, and return at once by mail. You will please collect them, and send by Linney Turner on his return Wednesday. You will see from my letter that I requested them sent directly to me without further delay. Oblige,

"MAMIE L. HATCHETT."

The duel took place on July 14th, before the letters produced here were received by Garland. The trial of Garland for killing his antagonist will commence at Lunenburg C. H. next Monday week.

Business men will find it to their interest to have their job printing done at the PUBLIC LEDGER job printing office, 13 Madison street.

MEMPHIS & KANSAS CITY RAILROAD.

Length 481 Miles—To be Completed by March Next.

The Present Working Force to be Doubled.

A Branch to be Built to Little Rock.

Little Rock Gazette, 9th.

Mr. Newman Erb, who has charge of the Arkansas and Tennessee law business for the Kansas City & Memphis railroad, is spending a few days at his home in this city. Several days since the Gazette reporter received information that the road with which Mr. Erb is connected, contemplated the construction of a branch to this city. With a view of a certaining the correctness of this report, and to pick up such facts relating to the road as was possible, the reporter called upon Mr. Erb at his office yesterday.

"Yes," said the attorney, "your information is correct. Our company has positively decided to build a line to Little Rock, and the business men of the city may make their plans and build accordingly, for it is a certainty. No, I cannot tell you from what point on the main line we shall start. I know, of course, but we are not yet ready for the public and other corporations to be advised of our intentions."

"Will the branch come in from the northwest or the southwest?" asked the reporter.

"I cannot let you know, for that is exactly what we are concealing."

"Is work to commence on the branch immediately?"

"No; we expected to commence soon, but the contractors are all behind with their work. Mr. Nettleton, the President of the company, came down the line to look after the work and to see about the branch, and remained at Walnut Ridge all last week."

"But if the contractors pick up, you will commence the branch?"

"Without a doubt. We are only anxious to complete the main line. Next comes the branch."

"Do you honestly believe you will be running trains into Little Rock in two years?"

"In two years? Oh! yes; I am more than positive our trains from Kansas City will be here before the end of next year. We shall, at the latest, commence its construction next spring."

"What is your object in building to Little Rock?"

"To touch the roads centering here and to do the wheat carrying and lumber business, and also to make a new line with the Paragone connection to St. Louis."

"What will be the distance to Kansas City?"

"From Little Rock, about 470 miles."

"Well, Mr. Erb," continued the reporter, "I should like to know anything concerning your road that you are willing to impart."

"You probably know our line to Memphis is an extension of the old Kansas City, Fort Scott & Gulf railroad. That is finished to Springfield, Mo. South of Springfield to the Arkansas State line they name it Kansas City, Springfield & Memphis. On this division forty-one miles of track is laid, and trains commence to-day running to the end of the track, Loveland Station. This point is about eighty miles north of the Arkansas line. The track laying force, owing to the fact that the contractors are so slow, was last week taken off and sent to Kansas, where they are now laying the track on a short branch road. The men will be brought back by the first of next month, by which time it is hoped that the contractors will have progressed sufficiently to avoid any stoppage of track laying in the future."

"At what point will the line enter Arkansas?"

"At Mammoth Spring, Fulton county."

"This is Colonel Cobb's bonanza, isn't it?"

"Yes, we have established Augusta Station three and one-half miles north of the Spring, and will make it the end of a division."

"How many principal contractors are there now at work?"

"Three. The first is Patrick & Reid, of Concordia, Kansas, whose work extends from north of Augusta to a point fifteen miles north of Pawbush, Lawrence county. The next is Henry Boas, whose work extends to Black river, where we make the crossing. The third is Bethune, Smith & Co. Bethune, you know, was formerly with the Iron Mountain folks. Their work extends from Black river to the Mississippi river. Work is now progressing on every mile of the road. The total force, which is one thousand laborers and five hundred teams, has been ordered doubled, and, in fact, must be doubled inside of three weeks."

"Have you made a contract with the Iron Mountain by which they are to use a portion of your road for the Memphis branch?"

"Yes, we have a compact with them, by which they are to run on our track from Nettleton to Memphis."

"You are probably aware that the Iron Mountain has filed papers for a branch to Fort Smith?"

Ex-Senator Cooper's Speech.

Nashville World, 9th.
Judge Cooper's speech, at Clarksville, was, in some respects, more candid than is usual with politicians of his school. If we understand him, he thinks that we ought to pay 100-6 on the debt, without abatement or discrimination. Less than that, he said, would be repudiation. He is willing to knock off 40 per cent, because the creditors have consented to that, and the blame rests with those who have made it necessary for the creditors to make the deduction.

Here is a confession of the truth. If the Democracy had all been like Judge Cooper the bondholders would have exacted the entire debt without abatement of war interest, or anything else, at six per cent. That this would have been unjust is so evident we will not here attempt an argument on that subject.

Judge Cooper says the blame must rest with those whose conduct forced the creditors to make the deduction. Well, he is right. If blame be due, if there is anything wrong in relieving the people of a part of a burden that was oppressing every productive interest in the State, and especially agriculture, which lies at the foundation of all substantial prosperity—we say, if this be wrong, let the blame rest with the people and those who sustained them in that course.

We commend Judge Cooper for his candor, and consider his denials the highest commendation. We would like here to ask him: How many of the bondholders proposed the 60-6? Where do they live? And how much capital do they represent?

It is very evident that a large number of bondholders will not accept the 60-6; and many, from incompetency, cannot, such as farmers and lunatics. How will Judge Cooper dispose of these? Will he pay their bonds in full? Oh, no; that would be discrimination against those that the Readjusters have secured into a compromise. And, besides, it would be ungenerous, when we have made a liberal proposition, to hold liberal men to the terms, and then pay a premium to those who would not accept a reasonable offer.

Will he refuse to pay, until they shall accept the same terms as the others? No, no! That would be forcible readjustment, and that would never do. Would he exclude them altogether from any settlement? Oh, no! That would be complete, unmitigated, total and final repudiation.

Judge Cooper is an amiable gentleman; social in his department, genial and facetious. Though he has switched off the old Democratic track, he has never yet said, like Judge Bailey, that the Democracy might go to Hades as far as he was concerned. We can't help thinking some memories of his short episode of Democracy still stir within him. Whatever his feeling now may be, we feel and at the prospect of losing him. We beg him to consider and reconsider, and if he can see his way through the 60-6 to the end without forcible readjustment, discrimination or repudiation, we beg him to rise and explain. If he can't avoid all these difficulties, say so, like a man, and come back into line with the Democracy.

Victor Hugo seems to be in good health, though somewhat feeble. His mental faculties have for some time shown a certain decline. He has frequent absences of mind, and his growing deafness prevents his taking much part in conversation.
